

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Operational Use of Paranormals in Police Activities

1. Two paranormal subjects being tested at Stanford Research Institute (SRI) <sup>HAVE</sup> ~~has~~ produced impressive data on ~~specific~~ police cases.

The first involves the Patricia Hearst kidnapping and the second involves a Stanford University student homicide. The data for these cases was generated spontaneously in an uncontrolled field environment.

The generation of the homicide data was witnessed by OTS/CRB. An evaluation of the data is independently given in the SG11 attached memoranda from a second party interview to the Alameda County District attorney's office and the police officer in charge of the homicide case.

2. During the past year of investigations at SRI, several stories ~~an~~ of aid being given by people with paranormal ability to police in San Francisco area were related to myself by the SRI investigators, Dr. Puthoff and Mr. Targ. My personal knowledge of these activities has remained anecdotal for several reasons. One ~~most~~ compelling reason is that even the appearance of CIA involvement with domestic police operations is a political explosive association. This fact has kept me from attempting direct varification of the SRI claims.

~~detail here,~~ involves Mr. Pat Price and the ~~Pat~~ Patricia Hearst kidnapping as described in the first attachment. The night after the kidnapping and before any publicity occurred, Mr. Price's help was solicited by the Alameda police. Mr. Price provided a significant amount of data, including identification of people later proven to be involved. This interaction was taped by our principal investigators, Puthoff and Targ, and has been varified by the Electronics and Bio-engineering group leader at SRI, Mr. E. Jones. All this documentation is available for our inspection.

4. The second case has occurred more recently. The results are described in the second attachment. This case is of interest because of the presence of an OTS officer, [redacted] who witnessed the sessions. A separate description is being prepared by [redacted] ~~From remarks made to me,~~ It appears all the claimed results and more are varified.
